Dorm Hours, Motorcade, WW Are Discussion Topics In Senate

Announced in the Student Senate meeting Tuesday night was the administration's rejection of the dorm hours proposal, a SG-sponsored motorcade to Union tonight and a relocation of Wagon Wheel.

Denied by the administration was a request submitted in the form of a resolution to lengthen the hours of the women's dorms.

Senator Bill Neese suggested to the Senate that a committee be appointed to meet with the administration to discuss further the lengthening of dorm hours. Also to be discussed will be the possible lengthening of hours that residents of the women's dorms are allowed to talk on the phone.

Larry Bates, Student Government president, referred the matter to the Senate committee on administration and student relations.

A Student Government-sponsored motorcade will travel to the UTMB-Union basketball game at Jackson tonight. Drivers will be reimbursed $1.00 per passenger by the Student Government. The motorcade will form at 5:45 in front of the Women's Gym.

Also announced at the meeting was the relocation of Wagon Wheel to the basement of the Fieldhouse. Wagon Wheel was previously held in the basement of the Main Men's Dorm.

Chaplin, Guinness Set To Headline Film Comedy Night

On January 21 at 8:00 p.m. in Vanguard Theater, the Vanguard Film Society will present as its second program of the Winter quarter a Comedy Night Double Feature.

The first feature consists of two films which shows some of the work of the great actor and pantomist, Charlie Chaplin. These two of his best loved farces are: "The Rink" in which Charlie creates chaos at a roller-skating party, and "The Cure" in which Charlie, as an inept doctor, enters a sanitarium to be dried out.

The second feature will be "Captains' Paradise" starring Alec Guinness, Yvonne De Carlo, and Celia Johnson. This film is a satire on one man's idea of paradise. Guinness is the captain of a ferry-boat docking in Gibraltar and North Africa who has set himself up a wife and household at each end of the line. All goes well until the captain gets gifts for his two wives mixed up, and then one situation follows another right down to the end of the picture.

Once Motorcycles Meant Mayhem Today Cycles Salute New Images

By MORGAN BROOKFIELD

Used to be motorcycles meant mayhem. Bikes, boots, and black tallied up to trouble not just transportation. Not so today. Cycles have a new clean connotation.

Motorcycling is one of the fastest growing sports in America. Even on the bitter cold days of winter motorcycles will be seen on their way to work to school or merely out riding. Although quite obviously, there has been a decrease in the number of riders during the cold months. The sport seems to supply an emotional and physical outlet which cannot be found in the doldrums of daily life.

Japanese manufacturers are primarily responsible for the recent "upgrading" or popularizing of the image. These producers have created the "you meet the nicest people on a motorcycle" -- image. Motorcycles have become a socially acceptable mode of transportation.

College campuses clearly exhibit the phenomenal growth the two wheeled beasts have made.

Executives in New York City have formed a group called "The Madison Avenue Motorcycle Club." New York City's inhabitants do not cringe when they see these individuals straddling their two wheeled machines. They are not raven-ously preparing for the M.A. M.C. as the citizens of Lacombe, New Hampshire felt compelled to do, for the Hell's Angels, last year in their annual hill climb.

Riding a horse rather than using the family buggy is analogous to the motorcycle rider preferring two wheels to four.

Marlon Brando, Lee Marvin, and of course Stanley Kramer can feel responsible for the near extinction of respectable motorcycle riders. Yes, it was the movie called "The Wild One," which portrayed this image to our nation's public. Just a few years ago anyone connected with a

Two Are Injured In Car Accident

Thomas Williams, a freshman in business administration, was the driver of a 1962 Oldsmobile, which was involved in an automobile accident in front of the Administration Building yesterday afternoon at 3:00 p.m.

Williams' car struck a 1960 Chevrolet driven by Lula Covington of Martin when Williams attempted to make a left turn while heading west on University Street.

Mrs. Covington and her husband, Fred, who was a passenger in the Chevrolet, were both injured and were taken to the Volunteer General Hospital by Martin Police where they received treatment.

There was not estimate of damage as yet, according to Martin Police chief Cecil Levester. Both cars were damaged and were towed to local garages.

Students Support Functions

Student attendance at school functions has been good this quarter. A fine example is the Vanguard film series last Friday night at which a record crowd was present. Such a crowd should be present at every film shown.

Also, whenever possible, we should attend out of town ballgames. The team needs our support in number and voice at every ball game particularly when not playing on the home court.

Keep in mind the three home games at the end of this month and be there to yell as our team soars to victory. Let's let them know we are interested in the games and appreciate the hours of practice they put in every week to have a winning team.

Motorcycles Meant Mayhem

motorcycle was labeled with unruly character traits; a black leather jacket, an ardent drinker (if not an alcoholic or a dope addict), an individual who stood on street corners, adding not even the slightest effort to aid the production of the communities well-being.

Hell's Angels are presently creating an adverse affect but not enough to counteract the enormous growth which has exceeded anything ever before seen by the two wheeled sales force. It never fails. When the Hell's Angels or any other affiliated club hit the newspapers for a knifing or some other similar crime the motorcycle dealers and distributors cringe. They brace up and face the Oriental East for reassurance from the people responsible for the break through.

Most popular among the college students, and the rural and urban hippies are the motorcycles ranging up to 500cc. This includes: Harley Davidson Sprint (250cc.), Hondas, Yamahas, Triumphs, BSAs, Nortons and several other manufacturers making machines in this category.

Serious cyclists probably prefer the XL-CH Harley Davidson (950cc. model) as the most popular bike.

Around 1200cc. are packed into the Harley Davidson-74. This is often referred to as "the Cadillac of the Motorcycles." Policemen also use this model. There is one other group that uses this bike (or "hog" as they refer to it): the Hell's Angels. But the machine as they use it is drastically modified and not readily recognizable. Such conversions are rare except where these "devil - may - care" individuals exist.

The popularity of motorcycles is paramount, and increasing with every instant of time that passes. Whether derogatory or admirable remarks are made, the fact still remains--the beast has been broken and tamed. The rude brute has been sophisticated.

Misery Is A Commercial That Has Any Message

BY CARL MANNING

Coping with commercials can cause cranial chaos. Somewhere in that mysterious void between advertising repetition and corporation profits, sanity must be preserved.

Some individuals assay advertising as a cold war with consumers, however, each of us undoubtedly has a so-called "slogan saturation point." Like how many toothpaste commercials can you tolerate during one evening without going berserk and tossing the set out through the picture window?

One that comes to mind is where the people are ballyhooing about how they would much rather "fight than switch" brands of this particular cigarette. This in itself is bad enough, but when you stop to think that there are people today who would rather switch loyalties than fight, then -- well, it seems quite hard to believe that these same people would fight over what type of cigarette they smoked. Then on the other hand, maybe that's the trouble -- maybe they would.

Another commercial destined to send the viewing audience to the funny farm is the series starring Katy Winters, who goes throughout the town telling all who will listen about this particular deodorant. I almost have hysterics every time they show some poor damsel with a "problem" coming to Katy for advice, at which time she removes from her satchel a complete assortment of her product for the young lady's use. If realism was portrayed here, the dialogue might be like this:

Girl: "Oh, Katy, I have a problem and I need your help."

Katy: "Gads! I'll say you have a problem. Honeychild, you stink like a billy-goat! Why don't you take a bath once in a while and when you do, use this brand of deodorant, Skunkoil."

Girl: "Thanks for the advice and the Skunkoil."

Katy: "What are you babbling about? The advice will cost you five dollars and you can jolly well get your own deodorant. Who do you think I am, Daddy Warbucks?"

There is this one ad on the tube which shows a young starlet becoming a success because she used this toothpaste. During the filming, the director comments on her "hard to whiten teeth," and with this she argues, which in itself does nothing to enhance employer-employee relationships. It is at this time some short, dumpy character comes forth and informs us that this toothpaste will put "pazazz" in your smile. I don't know about the rest of you, but I for one am not so sure that I want it or not. It could just be worse than pyorrhea!

The commercial that truly appeals to the pre-natal mind is the Charmin ad. No where have I seen a bunch of old ladies getting such satisfaction by squeezing tissue paper. They don't need the product.

They need a good head shrinker. In this, the store owner comes running up the aisle shouting, "Don't squeeze the Charmin, ladies!" Man, this guy is out of it. Why he went as far as hiring a lifeguard to protect his product. Sure, these ladies might drown in the sea of inflationary prices, but I doubt if this lifeguard could be of much help to them.

There is one commercial that is somewhat new on television. It involves this woman who uses a particular brand of soap. Everyone from miles around comes in to tell her how sweet she smells. From all the fuss that is being made, it must be the first bath she has had in the last five years.

It's commercials like these that makes you want to take a shotgun and blow the TV set into the next county. The only trouble is this -- how do you tell a television set that you are sorry that you blew its insides all over the living room?

There is a car ad that must be geared for the ex-paratrooper audience. In it, we find this fellow jumping from the air, without a parachute, and landing in a moving car that he has just rented or stolen. Countless viewers are awaiting that day when he misses the car and becomes a greasy spot on the interstate, or even worse, hits the car and keeps right on going through the floorboards.

While talking about cars, let's look at those ads dealing with service stations. In every one of them, they have a man driving up and before he can brake to a full stop, this guy comes running out of the station dressed in a spotless uniform complete with bow tie and cap along with his clean hands and manicured nails and asks if he can be of any help. This may happen somewhere, but all I have ever found is that after waiting at some service station for awhile, someone comes waddling out dressed in greasy coveralls and tells me to hurry up since he has his dinner on the hotplate inside.

Orangemen Dropped Two Games In Quartet Of Road Contests

The Vol's four game road series got off to a bad start with the Orangemen dropping decisions to Austin Peay 99-84 and CBC 84-82.

In both high scoring contest, charity shots made the difference.

Against the Governors in Clarksville, UTMB bettered APSC from the floor hitting 30 field goals to 25. Austin Peay sank 49 of 55 from the foul line while the Vols managed only 24.

Down 47-40 at the half, the Vols could not get the initiative in the final two periods. Led by gunners Hal Jackson, Dennis Synder and Tommy Head with 29, 27, and 17 each, the Governors also dominated the boards with 57 rebounds.

The closest the luckless Volunteers came was mid-way through the initial stanza when guard Jerry Lacy spurted for seven straight markers to knot the score 21-21.

The Vols spread their scoring evenly with four cagers striking in double figures. Guards Robert Barger and Jerry Lacy tallied for 18 and 14 respectively. Center Mickey Martin and sophomore forward High netted 16 and 14 each.

Martin also led UTMB in rebounds with 11.

In Memphis Saturday night, it took the CBC Buccaneers an overtime period and six foul shots to finally edge UTMB 84-82. Captain Ron Armstrong hit a short jumper with 43 seconds left in regulation to knot the score at 76-76 at the buzzer.

In the extra period CBC netted six from charity lane and one field goal. Guard Pat Taylor dumped in two field goals and Byron Keuhner and Don Burnette each got one foul shot to keep the Vols close.

With both teams shooting near the .500 mark, the lead see-sawed back and forth. The widest point margin was held by UTMB which led by eight early in the second stanza.

Four Vols shared double figure honors. Lacy, Armstrong, Martin and Landers scored 18, 15, 15, and 14 each.

Rick Martin paced the Buccaneers with 25.

Saturday night's defeat was the Vols first league loss and slipped UTMB into second place in the VSAC.

Thursday the Orangemen seek to regain the top-noted in the VSAC at the expense of Union University. Union is currently riding in the number one slot with a 3-0 conference record.

Last year the Jackson, Tennessee, school downed the Vols twice 67-62 and 75-67.

Saturday UTMB culminates their four game road skelt in Cleveland, Mississippi, against Delta State in a non-conference tilt.

All those interested should meet with Coach Page in the fieldhouse Monday, January 24, at 7:30 p.m. It is an important meeting as qualification rounds and plans for the coming season will be discussed.

Last spring the Vol golf team tallied a 9-3 mark and finished second in the VSAC. In addition to regular matches, they participated in two inter-collegiate tournaments.

According to Coach Page, this year's schedule will be essentially the same as last season with the possibility of additional tournaments also being slated.

Zeta Tau Alpha Leads Intramurals

Zeta Tau Alpha leads in the standings of the sorority intramurals, with 20 points, and achieved this lead by winning the volleyball tournament fall quarter.

The sorority will receive an engraved trophy for its efforts.

Following Zeta Tau Alpha was Chi Omega with 15 points, Alpha Omicron Pi with 10 points, and Alpha Delta Pi with five points.

Sorority intramural events for winter quarter include basketball and badminton.

The sorority which achieves the most points for the school year will receive temporary possession of a rotating trophy.

As It Looks From Here

By BILL BENSON

It is generally conceded that the home team will have a ten-point advantage. Familiarity with the court, student support and occasionally officiating usually provide this margin.

In the first two laps of the Vols four-game road series personal fouls have accomplished what court familiarity and a cheering section failed to.

Against Austin Peay, UTMB netted five more field goals than the Gobs; however, from the foul line APSC missed six free throws but still hit more than Volunteers attempted. The Governors bagged 49 of 55 while UTMB sank 24 of 34 attempts.

At CBC it was charity lane revisited. From the floor, Coach Burdette's cagers out-gunned the Bucs 34 baskets to 28. Meanwhile on the foul-line CBC shot 38 times hitting 28. The hard-luck Vols missed only one free throw but only had 15 chances.

If the present trend continues, our Vols will need a lot of student help Thursday night against Union. It's getting down to the nitty gritty in the VSAC. Union University is currently riding shot-gun with a 3-0 league record, but UTMB is pressing hard at 4-1. Needless to say Thursday's battle is important. In act, it could go a long, long way in deciding the division champ.

I hate to climb on a soapbox but, Jackson is only an hour's drive from here, and a lot of hinges on this game. Since the Orangemen won't have the advantages of a home court, a large UTMB student section could provide the needed incentive.
